

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award

Vision – to inspire and promote lifelong improvement for all young Canadians to live by encouraging personal development and achievement.

Mission – to give Canadians aged 14-24 a supportive, non-competitive youth development platform that deepens self-awareness, builds confidence and broadens skills and experience to further their growth as active, responsible citizens.

Details: this is an award that is self-directed and develops the whole person mind, body, and soul. There are three levels to the award; Bronze, Silver and Gold. A young person can progress through each level or enroll directly to either the Silver (15 years and up) or the Gold (16 years and up). Each level requires an increasing commitment and effort. Young people have until their 25th birthday to complete the award.
